PIRELLI: IN "TOP 1%" OF S&P GLOBAL'S 2025 SUSTAINABILITY YEARBOOK, THE ONLY TYRE MAKER AT THE GLOBAL LEVEL

The highest recognition is based on analysis of around 7,700 companies

Milan, 11 February 2025 - Pirelli is this year again confirmed among the "Top 1%" of companies in the 2025 Sustainability Yearbook – the only tyre maker to be included at the global level - thus obtaining the highest recognition based on the sustainability analysis of around 7,700 companies carried out by S&P Global.

The result is based on Pirelli's score in S&P Global's the 2024 Corporate Sustainability Assessment, where the company obtained the top score (84 points) both in the Auto Components and Automotive sectors, together with its confirmation in the Dow Jones Sustainability World and Europe Indices.

Marco Tronchetti Provera, Pirelli's Executive Vice Chairman, commented: "The recognition received again this year in the 2025 Sustainability Yearbook rewards Pirelli's ability to transform challenging goals into tangible results. It confirms the effectiveness of our industrial strategy which is based on concrete and measurable actions which encompass the entire value chain".
